Spreading the Gospel in a Post-Christian Culture

Transform Minnesota is committed to helping the Church of the future navigate change. One such change is a post-Christian culture shift we're seeing in the United States.

The number of Americans identifying as religiously unaffiliated has grown by more than 30 million people in the last decade. Younger generations especially are questioning the Church, seeing it as inactive and irrelevant in their lives.

Reaching new generations with the message of the Gospel requires an adjusted approach to evangelism. Learn more about how we're engaging this issue.

Arrive Ministries Announces New Executive Director

Arrive Ministries, an affiliate ministry of Transform Minnesota, has announced the hiring of Mark Morgenstern as their new Executive Director. With an abundance of missionary and leadership experience, we are excited to have Mark step into this role.

Read Arrive's full statement here.

Thank you for continuing to support and pray for Mark and Arrive Ministries staff as we continue the important work of showing love to our refugee and immigrant neighbors.

Jesus in the Secular World

On October 25th, Aaron Pierce of Steiger International spoke to a sold-out group of pastors and ministry leaders about engaging an increasingly post-Christian culture with the message of the Gospel.

Pierce encouraged participants to approach the culture as though they are missionaries in their own cities, to learn about the philosophies and influences of the new generations in order to speak a language they will understand. "We're not going to go where they are until our heart is broken, because to the extent which our heart is broken is the extent we're going to do something about it."

"This was a highly motivating, interactive, and Gospel-centered seminar. It blessed and challenged me."
